THE NATIONAL GUARDSMAN

Official Publication of the National Guard Association of the United States. 406 Sixth Street, N. W., Washington 9, D. C.

Volume 6, No. 7, September, 1952

Office: 406 Sixth Street, N. W., Washington 9, D. C.

Postmaster: Steward, 406 Sixth St., N. W., Washington 9, D. C.

Subject to mailing at less than postage rate under Act of March 3, 1879.

Published monthly, first issue September 1912. Copyright, 1952, National Guard Association of the United States. All rights reserved.

THE NATIONAL GUARD ASSOCIATION OF THE UNITED STATES

OFFICERS

Gen. E. A. Walsh, President
Gen. Leo M. Kreher, Vice-President
Gen. W. H. Abbe, Treasurer

COMMITTEE ON PUBLICATION

Gen. E. J. Stokbelle, Chairman
Gen. Leo M. Kreher, Vice-Chairman
Gen. Leo M. Kreher, Chairman
Gen. Leo M. Kreher, Vice-Chairman
Gen. Leo M. Kreher, Chairman
Gen. Leo M. Kreher, Vice-Chairman
Gen. Leo M. Kreher, Chairman
Gen. Leo M. Kreher, Vice-Chairman

EXECUTIVE STAFF

The National Guardsmans

Allen G. Crist, Executive Editor
C. William Brown, Associate Editor

Executive Office

406 Sixth Street, N. W., Washington 9, D. C.

This is an article from the National Guardsmans, a publication of the National Guard Association of the United States. The article discusses the lawfulness of being a member of the National Guard, the relationship between the National Guard and the Army, and the potential for conflict between the two organizations. It also mentions the possibility of the National Guard being used as a reserve force in support of the Army. The article is written in a formal tone, with references to legal and military terminology. The author expresses concern about the potential for the National Guard to be used as a substitute for the Army, and notes that this could lead to a decrease in the quality of training and readiness. The article concludes with a statement about the future of the National Guard, suggesting that it may become more integrated with the Army and less autonomous.