NGAUS financial statement in the annual report several years ago, we will publish the Association's budget in the magazine next year.

Membership. We have to do better on our goal of 100 percent membership among National Guard officers. To do this more effectively in today's environment, we have to become more convincing in telling these officers what the NGAUS does and what it continues to do for the Guard. The story may be the best kept secret of the military, but our officers need to be informed.

NGAUS Conducts 112th Conference

The Minuteman Trust's goal is to raise $1 million to fully implement a complete renovation of the National Guard story line and add artifacts we need to display that story. The Heritage Gallery did a magnificent job of the renovation, and Vietnam was not there. Obviously, Grenada, Panama and the Gulf War are not represented at all. We must be it is our goal to see these states and territory represented.

A final point about the Minuteman Trust. Earlier in 1990, the NGAUS conducted some fund-raising goals for these states. These are not quities. We intentionally have stayed away from the one-of-a-kind symposium of the 1950s (the original building was built) because its coercive implications. We want the states to participate with enthusiasm.

NGAUS has decided to go forward with the 112th General Conference. The list of distingushed speakers includes Secretary of the Air Force Donald B. Hubbard, Jr., and Dr. Theodore Marrs, a prime mover of the Total Force Legislation. Army Chief of Staff Gen. Carl E. Vuono, and many other distinguished leaders will be present.

NGAUS Honor Awards Recipients

NGAUS Honor Awards Recipients were presented at the 112th General Conference in Reno. Conferences in 1990 and 1989 have been the most successful in history.

Resolutions Adopted

The resolution adopted in January 1990 was the 74 resolutions that were proposed by the states. These resolutions represent the basic mission of the NGAUS legislative efforts.
