32 Mission of Hope
Pushed off the front pages by the war on terror, the Kosovo peacekeeping mission is now in its eighth year and handled almost exclusively by Army National Guard soldiers. A recent visit by National Guardsmen to the former Balkan war zone reveals progress within the communities that were once flashpoints of the conflict.

36 Help Wanted
Last year, the Army National Guard reported a 23 percent shortfall in company-grade officers. And things since have only gotten worse. The source of the problem is complicated. So are the solutions.

40 Young Guns
Although it traces its roots back only a little more than a century, the Montana National Guard has been quick to make its mark. Montana Guardsmen were significant participants in the Spanish-American War before contributing to every major 20th century conflict. Today, the force is a major player in the war on terror and emergencies at home.

44 Border Sentries
Do you think helping to secure the Mexican border is now National Guard mission? Think again. In 1916, more than 100,000 Guardsmen mobilized to help pursue the Mexican bandit Pancho Villa.
